

Statement: Audit Service not conducting aptitude test

26th October 2018

The Auditor-General wish to announce for the information of the general public, particularly persons who applied for employment in the Service that the Service is not conducting an aptitude test for which it is charging fees for, prior to being invited for interview.

Please ignore all such fraudulent text messages by persons seeking exploit applicants. The Service is taking steps to unravel the source of these fraudulent messages.